

A wedding couple is captured in a romantic moment, kissing and embracing within a rustic stone archway. The bride is wearing a voluminous white gown and holding a bouquet of pink and white roses, while the groom is in a dark suit. The background reveals a lush vineyard with rows of grapevines, set against a backdrop of green trees and distant mountains under a clear sky. The scene is bathed in soft, natural light, suggesting a late afternoon or early morning setting. The stone archway is constructed from large, irregular blocks of reddish-brown stone, adding a sense of history and elegance to the location.
